NEW RULES ARE AGAIN HELD UP

School Board Didn't Have Time to Consider Them at Special Meeting

Other Matters Take Most of Two Hours-Hungarian Political Club Sends Pointed Let-

ed for the Board of Education got sidetracked at the special meeting last night and only scant attention was given them. The meeting had been called for the purpose of considering these rules which have been held up on one pretense and another for several months. It was two years ago when the idea of new rules to govern the actions of the board was trotted out. The board has been since then arriving at the present stage The rules have been drawn up by the special committee which had that work in charge and were presented to the board some time ago. When they came up at the last monthly meeting it was decided to hold a special meeting and last night was the time selected.

There are 40 typewritten pages in the set. Of these but six were taken under consideration last night. The meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock. Plans for the new school on the Burns plot at the corner of North Washington avenue and Commercial street were submitted to the board by Architect Charles T. Beardsley, Jr. After several minor changes were AN AFFECTING SCENE made in them the plans were approved and bids for the construction of the school will be advertised for. The Board of Contract and Supply will not have a hand in awarding the contract. The bids will close June 17. The board will hold a special meeting to open them. The plans provide for an eight room building of brick. The eight rooms will constitute the first unit and an eight room addition will unit and an eight room addition will be added later. There will be two stories and a basement and the frontage will be on North Washington avenue. The addition will be added on the Commercial street side. There will also be an entrance on the Commercial street side. Connor Bros. Co. of Lowell, Mass., have written the board asking for the privilege of comboard asking for the privilige of competing for the work on the school. The communication was received and turned over to the architect who will advertise for the bids.

This committee will gather data and consider the advisability of making such an investigation of the school system as was suggested in a resolution introduced at the last meeting of the board by Mr. Bishop, Supt. Charles W. Deane, Attorney John J. Cullinan, N. W. Bishop, Richard H. Murphy and Col. Elmer H. Havens. President William Lieberum made the appointments.

She turned to Harry with the remark:
"Don't cry Harry dear, mamma is better off." A few more sobs a flood of tears and then the boy bravely straightened up.
